

This Afghan refugee family near the Pak-Afghan border is waiting eagerly for humanitarian aid.

They were forced to seek refuge in Pakistan after their village was destroyed in Russian air-bombing.

After his leg was blown by a mine, he was taken to a mujahideen clinic for treatment. But the mujahideen clinic too was bombed and he was again wounded.

Since about a year,the Russian Social Imperialists and their puppets in Afghanistan have launched a wide and intense propaganda campaign claiming that their so-called "national reconciliation" scheme has succeeded and that it will soon lead to a ceasefire and peace in Afghanistan.

In reality,however, the Russian Red Army and the puppet regime forces have not only escalated the fighting but in fact have increased in magnitude the barbarities and terrorization of the defenseless civilian population of Afghanistan. Though this pamphlet is too brief to give a comprehensive picture of what the Russian Imperialists and their puppet regime has done only in this one year of "national reconciliation", but it does provide a glimpse of the large-scale atrocities,massacres, and destruction committed by the so-called "defenders of peace and Justice" in Afghanistan.

In a Russian bombing raid, these children have lost their parents and their home. Now they have no place to live in and none to support them.

The Russians killed the bread-earner of this Afghan family, destroyed their house, and burned their crops. After joining other villagers, they travelled for many nights without food over very difficult mountaineous terraiss, avoiding daylight and Russian air-bombardments, to reach the safety of Pakistan.

The Russians intend to turn the present and future society of Afghanistan in to a crippled one.
